

Research lab 113 in a glance

Research lab 113

Dr. Abdullah I. Saleh

Chemistry Department

The research lab is equipped with basic tools to conduct synthesis of organic products of biological interests. Several projects have been completed successfully in recent years that produced few publications in respected scientific journals including chemical papers, synthetic communications. When integrated with NMR lab and other sophisticated laboratories, our research lab represents an ideal facility for organic synthesis projects