

Practical Implementation of theoretical and experimental knowledge gained from the course of his study and work carried out in project one.