CONCEPT A

"The Lungs"

Neighborhood is often considered the area of residence and descent living in the city. It is the ventilator of the city.

Everything gives life and satisfaction and seeds positive energy to man and to the city

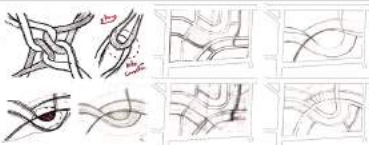

CONCEPT B

"The Knot"

A good society is one of several interconnected and strong relationships. These relationships are links between persons.

Node is an example of strength and solidarity among individuals and this is what makes the society strong and cohesive

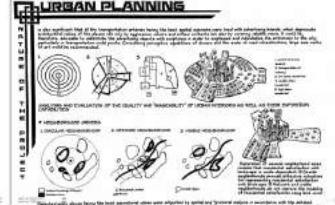

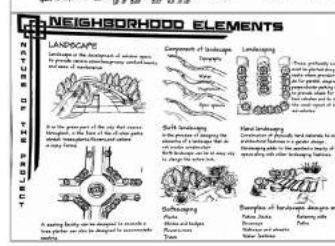

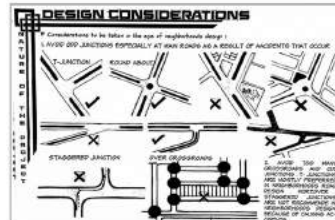

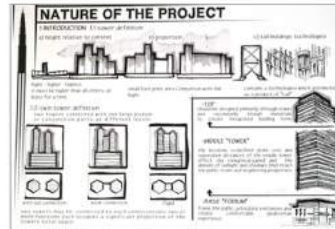

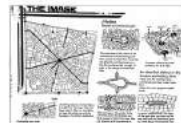

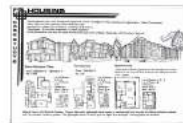

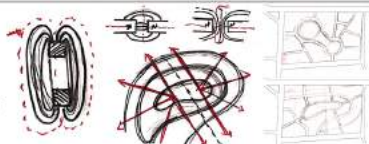

CONCEPT C

"Electromagnetic Field"

The society tends to have friendly relationships such as those found in the magnetic field between similar poles (N-N) (S-S) and opposite poles (N-S) (S-N)

The field of law expresses the power of attraction and the power of distance between the different poles and these represent the relation of society
